

TERMS OF USE

You are accessing a U.S. Government (USG) information system (IS) that is provided for educational viewing and respectful, professional discourse. The Cyber Defense Review (CDR) website is owned by the U.S. Army and is provided as a public service by the Army Cyber Institute (ACI) of West Point, a part of the United States Military Academy (USMA).

Registered readers on the CDR website (www.cyberdefensereview.army.mil) will be able to comment on published Work and blogs to further expand the dialog.

Privacy and Security Notice

Please read this Terms of Use carefully. By using this website, you signify that you have read, understand and agree to be bound by all of the terms and conditions as set forth in this (1) Terms of Use, and (2) U.S. Army's Privacy Policy. The U.S. Army may change the Terms of Use at any time and without notice, effective upon the posting of the revised Terms of Use. Your continued use of this website shall be considered your acceptance of the revised Terms of Use.

By accessing this website, you acknowledge and consent to the following conditions:

- Communications on this IS are not private. The U.S. Government routinely intercepts, monitors, and searches communications on this information system for purposes including, but not limited to, penetration testing, communications security (COMSEC) monitoring, network operations and defense, personnel misconduct (PM), law enforcement (LE), and counterintelligence (CI) investigations.
- Data stored on this IS is not private. At any time, the U.S. Government may inspect and seize data stored on this information system.
- Communications using or data stored on this IS may be disclosed or used for any U.S. Government-authorized purpose.
- No classified information shall be posted by the U.S. Government or any users.

- Unauthorized attempts to change information on this website are strictly prohibited and may be punishable under the Computer Fraud and Abuse Act of 1987 and the National Information Infrastructure Protection Act.
- Comments will be moderated before posting to ensure logical, professional, and courteous application to its content. No inflammatory or libelous comments, solicitations, or spam will be permitted.

Copyright Policy

The use of copyrighted material from this website is subject to the U.S. copyright law and Army regulations. It is the policy of the CDR and ACI to recognize and respect the rights of copyright owners consistent with the Army's mission and worldwide commitments.

Copyrighted works will not be reproduced or distributed without the written or electronically conveyed permission of the copyright owner. Army Regulation 25-1 prohibits the posting of documents or information protected by a copyright on Army websites without the permission of the copyright holder.

If you wish to use any copyrighted material, you must have obtained the copyright holder's permission and carry attribution from the original source of the material. Any materials to be reproduced from this website must also carry attribution to the CDR with the byline/photo/image credits.

This page does not create any right, remedy, or cause of action for any person against the Army.

If you have any questions or comments about the information presented here, please forward them to us using the CDR contact page.
